Introduction:

We have to grow from this tragedy. We have already learned that we can not afford to be unaware of the world outside of our own borders. The reflections and perspectives of you the individual should be unique, for each of our 9-11 experiences vary. This portion of the book is for the reader to become a writer, write down your expressions of 9-11 and let go of the hurt. The pain of yesterday's bottled frustrations and fears unveiled for strength to endure within and throughout the pages. When 9-11 sorrows burdens you in your future endeavors, recall your expressions and continue to express your feelings via pen. Your own words will deliver strength and truth.

Instructions:

Looking back at the World Trade and the expression the world made when faced with terror. Sharing more than just a tragic moment, we have shared a true loss of innocence. No more will we as “Americans” feel secure in these insecure times. The reality of it all is security is unavailable when war and poverty floods the earth. Many times I encounter those who only look at life from a personal perspective, “I ain’t seen war, so there is no war.” Well for those of you who have just been enlightened to the vindictive and hungry world outside of your front door, How are you handling truth? Truth is simple. So simple to face, but veiled to see. We get truth through sight and mediation. Words fabricated are violins playing tunes to pleasure our state of being peaceful and calm. Pure mockery of our emotions will have us following, fighting, forgetting, and acting on impulse.

Tuesday morning I awoke much earlier than usual, all I could reminisce on was my weekend and the discoveries I had made in the city. Saturday morning I rose to commute to NYC and I went from Penn Station, Newark, NJ to Penn Station, New York, NY. New York had it’s normal view of, thousands of rushing consumers, uniformed city servicemen, probing policemen, media news stands on every corner, the smell of hot dogs, foreign hustlers on the streets soliciting bootleg gold and goods, the mystic of the skyline as you look at all the skyscrapers, The air is different soon as you hit the island. Nobody smiling, on the mean streets, if you see a smile, best to keep moving, only the fools ego proving. Penn Station, New York is within the Madison Square Garden Complex. I rode up the escalator to daylight turned and viewed the billboard for the up and coming Pay-Per-View Fight Trinidad –Vs- Hopkins scheduled for September 12, 2001, flying  $\frac{3}{4}$  the height of the Garden’s exterior wall. The cost of one 100’ X 200’ advertisement exceeded most Americans annual household incomes. Thoughts of what direction my life was heading in conquered my mind. Walking in the fashion district all you see is low budget merchants surviving by acquiring the swiftest profit bearing inventory for that particular point and time. Then there’s always the Charter Bus of southern travels who are in the wholesale/retail stores just amazed at the deals and goods available in such variety and quantity.

Bopping down Broadway and 33rd to accomplish the mission for the day, first get a pull-bag for a friend who needed it for carrying books around campus. Second I had recently got lost in the city while guiding out of town guest to entertainment, so I felt it was essential that I walked the island to get a physical and mental picture of NYC. I walked are entire path route from 33rd Path station to China Town to the World Trade Center. NYC is a concrete jungle, releasing the herds of its beast from dust to dawn; “THE CITY THAT NEVER SLEEPS’, is it’s A.K.A. The commerce is ridiculous, is you want it the city got it in abundances. The walk from the Fashion District to China Town was guided by the Great Wonders of the World the “TWIN TOWERS”. I just walked straight down Broadway, I realized the World Trade Center was the cities compass. As I looked to the sky time and time again to see my direction in relation to the Trade Center, I started piecing together the game being played right before my eyes. Where were my fellow African American businesses located in NYC? Nowhere in abundance, I started feeling played. All this time thinking about what can I buy to sale, the only open slot for me and those like me was to be a runner within our community for import exporters making the real profits in NYC. Enterprising to sale others goods and greaten my liabilities, is that a real battle worth preparing to fight for. New York is the city of creation, so much better to pioneer than, falling in line, is the moral lesson the thousands of stores and varieties indicate. So I turned within to ask How, With What, What You Gonna Do? World Trade financed the greatest wonder man had ever accomplished. Looking up at the Twin Towers I saw the real money was in generating the gateway for profitable transactions. What can you offer the world? And what you want from the world? Have a compromising win/win negotiation established to present your offer and your expected compensation for goods/services rendered. That's what NYC and the over standing World Trade Center represented the gateway to goods and services which juristic the direction of American commerce.

The closer I got to the WTC the more I could see my realizations manifesting before my eyes. The same goods I had seen uptown being sold at wholesale prices where now downtown at retail value. The corporate world owned all the buildings surrounding the commercial districts to oversee market trends. The government is partners with these corporate parties whom are the bearers of all the fruit of the land. Who can eat when , will the orchards are conquered by giant corporations? Orchards symbolizing the various trades and industries. Was this attempt at disrupting World Trade a plea for Americans to open its orchards to the hungry? If so, our response as a people has been personalized and bluntly terrifying. Our age-old tactics of holding the key to all the worlds orchards has grown hatred and envy for all Americans. Most time Americans take for granted, this country offers education, health care, higher education, ever growing commerce, and hope that one day you can be the figure you dream to be.

Its seems we "Americans" have yet to acknowledge we are holding the key to too many orchards, as did the Roman Empire. Roman at it's great height lost control due to their vast borders and jurisdictions. Sure with great military strength and intimidation we can invade and even conquer weaker countries, but how can we make the love us after a brutal rape. I love you, I want to take care of you, lets live together in harmony and rid our selves of evil, their ears hear violins but their eyes have already seen destruction.

Brief Newark History

Newark is the nation's 3rd oldest city. First Boston was established, New York City developed into a metropolis, and as progression continued south the Newark waterfront made the location ideal for the early settlement. Breaking barriers has been one of the Newark's trademarks, the historic burial ground located at the current Performing Arts Center was the first in the nation to bury both slaves and whites in the same cemetery. The arches at the NJPAC symbolize the spirit of change that has resided in the city for generations.

The northern migration of the 40's through the 70's did greatly increase the population of the city. Many southerners found themselves looking for opportunities in the industrial and manufacturing factories that once fueled the greatest employment potential in the city. These were Newark's Glory Days. Entertainment central, New Yorkers came to Newark to party. Chocolate City was the A.K.A. popularized by George Clinton. The Newark Renaissance existed and full the memories of those city residents whom have had the pleasure of experiencing Newark's Pre-riot days. The riots following the death of Martin Luther King Jr. scarred the thriving city and it would be the 1990's before the city would bounce back substantially from the riot's aftermath. As the four decades following World War II progressed, the population and jobs regressed. The negative views painted on the city after the riots, are now becoming a non entity. Now the city's master plan has been rejuvenated and the aftermath of 9-11 has built a greater need for Newark usages. The projects underway in the city have lead spectators to believe in the potential of Newark.

Newark Now

Attracting national recognition last Mayoral race, the sit for head of Newark was a great topic of interest. Sharpe James or Booker, Why what was at stake? Billions and Billions of dollars for deals in the making and projects outlined in the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy for the City of Newark. The political machine has been fine tuned and the assembly line is bringing forth changes in the cities infrastructure. Obviously more jobs and commerce will greaten the opportunities of the city. The overall goals to acquire more employment and prepare city residents for the positions soon to come available in the reign are the greatest concerns of the people. Many have already experienced a lack of work force advancement and feel the training is essential to the survival of the masses of Newark residents. The upgrades the city will offer via Commercial/Office Projects, Commercial/Retail Projects, Industrial Projects, Higher Education/Hi-Technology Business Development Projects, Hospitality and Entertainment (Arena) Projects, Transportation Projects, and Development of schools, housing, and special Projects will have two effects. City residents prepared for the changes in the city will benefit from the employment climate and the enterpriser will have better chances to grow. The greater number of unprepared city residents will find themselves in an ever changing more expensive city than they had grown accustom to, their financial conditions will eventually cause them to seek residence in cities bordering Newark were rehabilitation projects in these surrounding cities will feasibly house residents more affordably.

Newark Property Varieties

There are 8 areas of the city that define the neighborhoods and land usage zoning. The eight areas and their primary usage are as follows:

North Newark – The heart of the Branch Brook Park is a residential reign of the city. Some structures housing light industrial uses, with a retailing hub on Bloomfield Avenue, the area is highly active and well maintained. The residential landscape ranges from one to four family homes with several large apartment complexes spanning Mount Pleasant Avenue.

The Central Business District - New Jersey's largest city with high rise, churches, and various other commercial structures downtown Newark.

South Broad – Weequahic Park area is primary one to four family homes well-maintained with industrial and manufacturing, and public housing lining Frelinghuysen Avenue.

Ironbound – Ferry street the historic manufacturing section of Newark, now the mecca for Spanish, Portuguese, and Brazilian restaurants. The area has been immigrated primarily by South Americans who bring culture and great commerce to that particular reign.

Newark International Airport and Port Newark – The transportation system makes the city accessible to the world. The property is the city's being leased by the Port Authority.

Vailsburg – Houses Newark's largest rental housing complex in Ivy Hill, the area is typically narrows and the lots house mostly single family homes.

South Newark – The Clinton Hill and Weequahic residential areas. The area houses the Beth Israel Medical Center and future construction sites will house both residential and industrial projects east of Bergen.

Central Newark and University Heights – Society Hill elite housing in the downtown reign of Newark, also encompasses UMD, NJIT, ECC, Rutgers, and a health care complex.

Newark Real Estate Boom

There are few times when property values climb and continue to climb for months on end. Newark has been experiencing such a pneumonia. I was inclined to take up a certification course to become a New Jersey Real Estate Sales Agent, the awareness gained there pushed me in the direction of appraising. And too, I took up a certification course to become a New Jersey Real Estate Appraiser. The boom has proved to be more than hype. The vacant lots in the city are disappearing and the upspring of new constructions have been consistent throughout the entire city. The Hope VI projects has provided a increased availability to affordable housing in the central ward. The Soprano's HBO saga popularized the rehabilitation potential and capital investment strategies of the current market .

- Properties values have greatly increased in the last year.
- Real Estate agents typically have more buyers than sellers.
- The refinance market has growth.
- The number of non-profit developers has increased.

New Yorkers crossing the Hudson into Newark

- New Yorkers seeking cheaper residences with an easy commute back to NYC
- NYC Businesses relocating in Downtown Newark

Why the aftermath of 9-11 got a lot of individuals seeking refuge. The common scene of it all is Newark is cheaper, its advancement in telecommunications and IT hubs have reached the capacities needed to house great corporations looking to relocation from NYC offices. The commute to Newark from NYC is convenient for most New York City workers. They feel safe in Newark and if not they make sure their commute to their Newark Office will allow them to go from Penn Station to the Gateway Cross-Walk Platform to their office without ever touching a city street.

Mase said it best in the late 90's, "I moved to Nu Jeruz cause I liked the crews"

"Nu Jeruz" is a Newark A.K.A known by those enriched in Hip Hop Culture.

Newark Arena Materializing

The Arena – The council sweated over the debates, the surrounding reign didn't want to pay to help Newark's project, the Mayor Sharpe James got real quite for a while next thing you show the grand scheme unfold. The following projects are how the arena approval come about.

One Billion to Newark Public School from NJEDA – The Health and Safety Improvements are in the process of finalization and the School Construction Corporation has began its bidding process. The Newark Public School Design and Construction team is now selecting it construction management team. Newark residents saw progress occur in a heated area of interest.

The Waterfront Deal - Newark's lease of the waterfront drew concerns of future employment obligations to Newark residents, the end point was the millions needed to finance the last 40 million of the arena.

The Port Authority Airport Deal – If you seen a Newark map you have noticed just how influential the port is to the city. Without Newark there is no Port Authority and without the port there is no Newark. So the contractual agreements between the two parties had to be updated to reflected today's rates and city needs. When it was over 100 million dollars got allocated for the arena.

City Citations – The city brought in millions by strategically suspending all the licenses of unpaid ticket holders on the same day. Over 25,000 hundred dollar state renewals fees and several million in citations recovered in less than a weeks time. Mo' Arena money.

City Owned Property – Giveaways and one dollar sales won't exist here for years to come. Every advance the city can implement will be seized. Mo' Arena money.

Booker Ain't Booked – Mayoral race challenger started law firm in city, his eye still on the prize.

Mr. Baraka And His 9-11 Poem Getting A lot of Attention in Newark

A local poet Baraka, has been a leading story in Essex County's Star Ledger. His Poem recited at a recent festival has granted him national attention. For reasons above and beyond the consensus of Newark residents, the media and in fluxed opposition has come against a great man of the community in Newark, for his usage of freedom of speech. His freedom of speech is in the progress of being censored. Baraka's being a board member of the arts committee has created a challenging task for state legislators to totally censor the man. The legislators would seek ways to eliminate the committee Baraka is a member of and even salt out his retirement process. What did Baraka say, his references to the absentee list on the morning of 9/11 caused an uproar in the Jewish community. The aftermath has yet to fully manifest itself, but this event let city residents know freedom of speech is partial around here.

9-11, The Great American Crutch

On these last pages of the book I'm going to vent a little on how I feel we ain't learned s*@! From our past, we repeating history at warp speed, war is becoming inevitable, a war which is wicked. Impulse, pride, and ignorance are setting at the head of our objectives. Reason, Peace, and Understanding have seemed non-negotiable.

So many foundations were established to help the victims of the 9-11 attacks, and the grants and US dollars allocated to redevelop the ground zero reign. It would be an entire book within itself to list all those whom have contributed to help uplift NYC via foundation pledges and direct assist to families of the victim. Funds were in such abundances that many people were able to fraud the charities for thousands. The news has recently been featuring headlines about 9-11 fraud artists being discovered and in the process of official court hearings. The event lead to many other such incidents which make me compare the event to a crutch. No matter who you were you had an excuse to BS for a while. 9-11, 9-11, 9-11 was all the public television viewer saw for months on end. Yes it was a tragic event, and surely a day that will forever remold American History, but those whom have abused the funds made the event their crutch, which generated "The Great American Crutch".

The Proverbs of Solomon the son of David, King of Israel;

2 To know the wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understanding;

3 To receive the instruction of wisdom, justice, and judgment, and equity;

4 To give subtilty to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion.

It's Bad, but It's Alright. It's the Balance of Life

I'm reminded of Habakkuk's struggles during times of war, then the vision came to him.

Habakkuk 1

The Burden which Habakkuk the prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not hear! Even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not save!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance? For spoiling and violence are before me; and there are that raise up strife and contention.

4 Therefore the law is slacked, and judgment doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compass about the righteous; therefore wrong judgment proceedeth.

5 Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvelously: for I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe, though it be told you.

6 For, lo, I raise up the Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, which shall march through the breadth of the land, to possess the dwellingplaces that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and dreadful: their judgment and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter than the leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves: and their horsemen shall spread themselves, and their horsemen shall come from far; they shall fly as the eagle that hasteth to eat.

9 They shall come all for violence: their faces shall sup up as the east wind, and they shall gather the captivity as the sand.

10 And they shall scoff at the kings, and the shall be a scorn unto them: they shall deride every strong hold; for they shall heap dust, and take it.

11 Then shall his mind change, and he shall pass over, and offend, imputing this his power unto his god.

12 Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, Mine Holy One? We shall not die. O lord, thou hast ordained them for judgment; and, O mighty God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity: wherefore lookest thou upon them that deal treacherously, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous than he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all of them with the angle, they catch them in their net, and gather them in their drag: therefore they rejoice and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice unto their net, and burn incense unto their drag; because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

Habakkuk 2

I will stand unto my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what he will say unto me, and what I shall answer when I am reproved.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said Write the vision, and make it plain unto the tables, that he may run that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie, though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry.

4 Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith.

Reflecting on the Current Situation of Many Other Countries Outside the US

You have seen the sad commercials on television. Do you think it's real? You would send in to the telecast, but you doubted the funding would get to it's rightful destination.

Let's simply ask ourselves some questions:

How many third world countries are there?

How many third world countries do we feed and educate?

How many third world countries need to be fed and educated?

How are we doing at feeding and educating the needy here at home?

How are we improving?

Can we see what's going on thousands of miles away from our eyes?

What's your assumptions on how we handle Foreign Policy?

- Take a moment and let God answer your questions.
- Points of Meditation
- Breathing-for-relaxation, inhale through your nose until you feel your stomach get filled with air, then slowly exhale through mouth. Do exercise twice.

On every path traveled I have been blessed with understanding and have learned to recall previous mistakes as great learning experiences. I thank God for my mishaps for my misfortunes are the heavy burdens which has made me strong. Lord I need you with me forever, where ever I go I take God with me in Jesus name.

weary. To the Lord should all praise be reindereed. Shall the Lord's Praise be stolen by your inmost wickedness. For no man can serve two masters. There's a street with a fork in the road. One road is light, uncrowded, truthful, divine, progressive, straight and narrow. The roads going left is dark, crowded, wicked, demonic, depressing, and dangerously crooked. A master stands at the end of the lite road who loves, welcomes, protects, blesses, cures, hears and cares. The other a dictator of darkness of the mind, mocks, deceives, and temp's mischief. Seek the right road with God Almighty and reap the benefits of being his helper.
